Belhaven University to Host Truth@Work Ministry

Truth@Work briefings and Christian business leader roundtables to be held on campus

CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE – September 13, 2011 — Belhaven University in Chattanooga has agreed to host Truth@Work briefings and Christian business leader roundtables in their state of the art facilities for adult and graduate studies. Belhaven's campus has been completely renovated with the latest equipment for optimal learning. The classrooms are equipped with multiple wide screen LCD monitors, projection equipment, multiple large white boards and computer hookups. Everything that the Truth@Work Christian business leadership focused discipleship ministry could ask for.

The Truth@Work briefings are an hour and half presentation designed to provide attendees with a thorough overview of the ministry and its goals for the Chattanooga Metro Area.

Ed Pickel, Director of Admissions for Belhaven University stated, "Truth@Work is a natural extension of what we are about at Belhaven University in our graduate and undergraduate business studies. Truth@Work girds its members with a Biblical Worldview as the foundation for their decision making in their day to day operations. This is accomplished using a case study curriculum in a roundtable format of Christian business leaders whereby iron sharpens iron. We are pleased to assist in this much needed ministry for men and women Christian business leaders in our area."

Since 1998, Truth@Work has been developing products, programs, and services designed to help Christian business leaders, entrepreneurs, CEOs and executives:

- Build "kingdom minded" businesses and organizations
- Integrate their Christian faith into their daily operations and practices
- Develop and share "cutting edge" business technologies to succeed in today's marketplace
- Achieve personal-spiritual-business "life integration" and balance
- Experience a safe & confidential place to share their issues and challenges

Today, Truth@Work is one of the nation's fastest growing marketplace ministries, serving Christian business owners, executives, and leaders as it expands into cities all across the country.

"Truth@Work helps in tackling difficult circumstances," stated Terry Massey, AmeriStride partner and Truth@Work Chapter President, "Mark, a business owner, was struggling with making a decision on an employee who was battling terminal cancer and could not contribute to the company's performance. In fact, his inabilities were hurting the company. With the downturn in the economy, Mark was faced with laying off 25% of his workforce. As a Christian, he was struggling between the responsibilities of running his business in difficult times, while trying to minister to his dying employee and family. What should he do? This is where his Truth@Work Christian Roundtable group stepped in with Godly and sound business counsel.”

Truth@Work’s primary offerings are proprietary Christian Roundtable Groups- which are monthly small "peer group" meetings, in a variety of formats designed specifically to meet the needs of its Members- at a fraction of the cost of other similar monthly programs in the marketplace. In addition they provide church and collegiate ministries and just this year have started a pastoral ministry aimed at helping pastors better understand the mind of a business leader.
